RURAL CARRIERS MEET AT COLLEGE

Invitation of Secretary McKnight Accepted and They Come Again Next Year.

For the past four years the State Rural Letter Carriers Association has met annually with the Farmers Congress. At the present session of this association the carriers voted to sever their official connection with the congress. It seems that this action was taken largely because the executive committee of the congress objected to the carriers holding sessions in conflict with the general session of the congress. The carriers insisted on making a program independent of the general program of the congress.

When the action of the carriers reached the public the natural inference was that the next annual meeting would be held at some place other than College Station. Waco and Temple immediately "got busy" and sent representatives to appear before the body and bid for the 1915 meeting. After these towns had been heard the claims of Bryan and College Station were presented with the result that the vote stood 52 for College, 19 for Waco and 14 for Temple.

This means that Bryan will entertain the association in 1915.

The Rural Carriers Association is easily the strongest of all the auxiliary bodies making up the Farmers Congress. They had at this meeting by actual count 115 delegates.

Their meeting next year will be held at the same time the Farmers Congress is in session, but will be independent of that organization, so far as program is concerned.

This arrangement is certainly much more desirable than to see the organization moved elsewhere.
